

“Raising a Successful Child Without Anxiety.”

Your workshop leader is Winnie Moen, M. Ed., Certified Parent Coach, educator, and mother of five. Winnie will be offering specific techniques parents can use to help their children reach their potential in this busy, complicated and often demanding world, while managing the stresses that inevitably arise. Winnie’s bio is included below.

While the workshop is in session, we will also be running a very special children’s program, “Raptor Outreach.” This program is put on by the Willowbrook Wildlife Center and features live raptors for the children to see and learn about. It’s sure to be a hit.

We will also have free refreshments, provided by our friends at Limestone Coffee and Tea in Batavia.

Mark your calendar now and join us for this afternoon of free activities! Please RSVP to 630.879.2586, or Stacie@montessoribatavia.com.

Winnie Moen has lived in the western suburbs of Chicago most of her life and knows firsthand what issues parents and children face in today’s world. Her first professional experiences with parent/child interactions occurred during her career as an elementary school teacher. Then came the hands-on experience of raising five children of her own. Winnie then furthered her own education by completing her formal parent coach certification through the renowned Parent Coaching Institute (PCI) associated with Seattle Pacific University. Winnie is the founder of Successful Parents, Inc. and now shares her experiences and expertise by working directly with parents in both one on one and group situations to help them with the often difficult and crucial task of raising children.
